Master Project List & Key

Central Asia Institute Master Project Key

Below is the “key” for Central Asia Institute’s (CAI) Master Project List (attached). In addition to providing a glossary of terms, this addendum provides descriptive information about CAI-supported projects in Afghanistan, Pakistan, and Tajikistan. CAI distributes funds, support, and assistance to local third parties (grantees) that engage in activities and programs that further the stated charitable purposes of CAI. In most instances, projects that have been initiated by CAI continue to receive support from CAI. In places where information is not available – due to the nature of the communities with which we partner and/or the remote locations and volatile conditions where we work – the information field is left blank until information is verified. Please note: The Master Project List and Key will constantly grow and change as we learn more, as projects continue and are developed, and as CAI evolves.

Support Definitions

Definitions of terms used on CAI’s Master Project List in the column “Support Type.”

- Basic School Support – CAI provides funds for stationary, school supplies, textbooks, furniture, playground equipment, and monitoring by community program managers.
- Basic-Plus School Support – CAI provides funds for partial teachers' salaries/bonuses, stationary, school supplies, textbooks, furniture, playground equipment, and monitoring by community program managers.
- Full School Support – CAI provides funds for teachers' salaries/bonuses, stationary, school supplies, textbooks, furniture, playground equipment, and monitoring by community program managers.
- Government School Support – CAI provided funds to build the school; now government supported.
- Vocational Center Support – CAI may have provided funds to build the center, provided initial investment of training and materials, and provides funds for ongoing support.
- Literacy Center Support – CAI provides funds to set up and support literacy centers that offer free daily lessons in basic literacy, hygiene, sanitation, and nutrition. Often a “center” is located in women’s private homes in Afghanistan, where women can gather and learn to read and write. CAI provides funds to pay the teacher and necessary supplies including textbooks, notebooks, pencils, and erasers.
- Computer Center Support – CAI provides funds to support the computer center.
- Student Scholarship Support – CAI provides funds to support scholarships to selected students.
- Teacher Support – CAI provides funds to support teacher-training workshops, or full or partial teachers' salaries/bonuses.
- Library Support – CAI provides funds for library buildings, materials, and supplies.
- Public Health Support – CAI provides funds for healthcare programs, water projects, and disaster relief.
- Community Support – CAI provides funds to support specific projects requested by the community.
- Under Construction – CAI provided funds to initiate the process of building the educational facility.
- Project Fulfilled – CAI provided funds to initiate a project and fulfilled its commitment to the community.
- On Hold – CAI provided funds to initiate a project and – due to the nature of the communities with which we partner and/or the remote locations and volatile conditions where we work – subsequently put it on hold until conditions allow for community program managers to continue safely, securely, and within the scope of CAI's mission and philosophy.

- Project TBD - CAI provided funds to initiate a project and – due to the remote locations and volatile conditions where we work – personnel, grantees, or independent accounting firms have not been able to visit the project within the fiscal year presented. This could be due to the location in a restricted area (for foreigners – see below), myriad travel constraints, or other unpredictable circumstances.
- Project Suspended - CAI provided funds to initiate a project, and – due to the nature of the communities with which we partner and/or the remote locations and volatile conditions where we work – the project was later suspended. This could be due to security risks, unrealistic community demands that do not fall within the scope of CAI's mission and philosophy, or other unpredictable circumstances.

Grade Levels

Below is a list of grade levels that CAI supports. In some communities, schools are all inclusive. For example, a high school could include nursery through grade ten.

- Primary – Nursery through class five
- Middle – Class six through eight
- High – Class nine and ten
- Higher Secondary – Class eleven and twelve (equivalent high school diploma in USA)

Student Enrollment

Student enrollment figures on the CAI Master Project List are indicated as “approximate” and represent anticipated student capacity of the school and expected attendance. Actual number of students may vary or fluctuate throughout the year. Generally, the school year runs from March to December, as opposed to September to June in the USA and Canada.

Notes on Special Types of Schools & Situations

- SAP Schools - The World Bank, through its Social Action Program (SAP), built numerous schools in Northern Pakistan. The intent of the program was to split ongoing costs of operation 50/50 with the government of Pakistan. The World Bank honored its intention. The government of Pakistan was unable to fulfill its obligation. After 10 years, the World Bank concluded its investment in these schools. Community leaders in many villages that have SAP schools have requested CAI's assistance over the years.
- SESP Schools - CAI's innovative and popular Students Education Support Program (SESP) offers girls free afterschool lessons in core subjects. Approved by the Afghan Ministry of Education, SESP classes have been running since 2011 in Kabul, Afghanistan and recently expanded into Khost Province. SESP classes give girls extra help in math, English, Islamiyat, basic computer instruction, and university-test preparation.
- Government Schools in Afghanistan - Upon completion of school building, ownership is turned over to the Afghan government. CAI still provides support in many cases.
- Government Schools in Azad Kashmir - Upon completion of school building, ownership is turned over to the AK government. CAI still provides support in many cases.
- NEF Schools: Pakistan's National Education Foundation (NEF), which began in 1994, and restructured in 2002, was an attempt by the Pakistan government to assist in the provision of small schools in rural areas, however there has been a chronic lack of funding, and many schools are operating with limited or no teachers and little oversight. In Baltistan, CAI has helped some of these schools with supplies, and / or teachers.

Restricted Areas

With the exception of UN Forward Observers, foreigners are generally not allowed to travel to restricted areas without notifying the government in advance. The government grants permission by providing a “No Objection Certificate” (NOC). NOCs are often difficult to obtain for the following areas in which CAI provides support:

- Chapursan Valley, Northern Pakistan
- Azad Kashmir, Pakistan (earthquake-damaged area of 2005)
- Leepa Valley, Azad Kashmir, Pakistan (war zone)
- Upper Kharmang Valley, Baltistan, Northern Pakistan (war zone)

Geographical Name Spellings

The names of CAI-supported projects and their locations are, as much as possible, linked to the most common spellings available. However, because many of the projects are located in conflict zones and/or areas where the regional language is not a written language, variations exist. It is important to understand that even the differences between spelling on maps, tour guide books, road signs, academic papers, and local pronunciations varies considerably to the point of being indiscernible or completely different spellings.
